Advance To Battle Positions To Halt Invaders

Possible Moves By Russia Are World Concern

Surprise Attacks By Russians Are Speculation Cause

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The anti-Communist world is keyed today to a weekend which may prove to be the most momentous in modern history.

Western concern centered chiefly over the possibility that the Soviet Union might launch a surprise attack on any of a number of fronts.

Officials frankly conceded that the Kremlin holds the initiative and can launch an attack against Turkey, Greece, Iran or Western Germany whenever it wishes.

The Russian note asserting that Moscow believes in a policy of non-intervention in the internal affairs of Korea gives no reassurance to western leaders that Russia is desirous of world peace.

They believe that, rather than giving an assurance against the outbreak of World War III, the move leaves the way open for Russia to initiate military measures on the excuse that she is preventing United Nations intervention in a "local disturbance" in some place other than Korea.

Believe Bomb Is Factor
President Truman and most of his top advisers believe that the possession of the atom-bomb in quantity by the United States will stay any Russian move to provoke a third World War.

But they have no guarantee that the men in the Kremlin will not seek military control of the civilized world by launching the third World War despite U. S. atom bombs.

At present, these are the chief questions in the minds of policy making officials:

1. Will the U. S. declaration that American ground troops will support the South Koreans cause the Soviet Union openly to take part in the Korean Hot War?
2. Will the Kremlin keep to its position of refraining from warlike measures in the Far East?
3. Will the Soviet Union abstain from making new moves in Europe and the Middle East?

Officials doubted that Russia will become involved in the Far East on a grand scale. It was noted (Continued on Page Two)

Start New Athletic Field

Bulldozers have begun moving 40,000 cubic yards of earth as the initial step in providing a new 10 acre athletic sector at Westminster College. The area will contain baseball, football and track fields and will provide a site for the new field house.

Westminster College has begun a $15,000 earth moving project on a new 10 acre athletic field.

Upon completion the new athletic area will contain a baseball field, track, football field, and the site for the new field house. In addition the area will contain large parking facilities.

Preliminary work on the athletic field will involve the moving of close to 40,000 cubic yards of earth. The work will not be completed in time for use during the fall football season.

Contracts have not been let to date on the construction of the new field house. Indications are that the college may drop its plans to build a hanger type field house in favor of a new design which will allow for better seating facilities. It was not expected that the new field house would be available for play during the early part of the coming basketball season.

Grading and filling of the new athletic area is under contract to Vic Minter of New Wilmington who is also the contractor for the new college manse now in the process of construction.

Millions Are Starting On Holiday Week-End Travel

(By International News Service)

Millions of Americans began their long Independence Day holiday weekend today sobered by U. S. shooting aid in South Korea.

The vanguard of an expected 36 million vehicles began rolling over the nation's highways. Trains were crowded and air lines added extra sections to their scheduled flights.

But repercussions of the tense international situation—some of them reminiscent of wartime restrictions—face many holiday tourists.

A convoy of 700 military vehicles carried the Illinois National Guard to a two-week training session in Wisconsin over roads crowded with vacationers bound for the north woods.

Safe Driving Urged In State

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today urged motorists in Pennsylvania to obey traffic laws and drive safely during the Independence Day holiday weekend.

Duff ordered state police to keep a sharp lookout for speeders, reckless and intoxicated drivers and all other traffic law violators.

"Last year, Pennsylvania established a fine record in the decline of its highway traffic fatalities," he said. "Over the Memorial Day weekend this year, Pennsylvania's death rate continued to decline from the high of 1949."

"This coming weekend, national highway safety experts are predicting nearly 400 deaths on the nation's highways. How many of these will occur in Pennsylvania we have no way of knowing. But we do have ways of keeping fatalities to the barest minimum."

"First and foremost of these," said Duff, "is constant vigilance on the part of motorists to keep within the law, to drive safely at moderate and not excessive speeds."

'Paper Bombs' Strike Korea

TOKYO, July 1.—(INS)—Five tons of "paper bombs" in the form of leaflets, have been dropped on South Korea from a U. S. Air Force C-46 transport plane, escorted by two Mustang fighters.

Air Force Headquarters in Tokyo announced the feat today. It said the leaflets promised the South Koreans "every support" and urged them to "be calm, be courageous, resist firmly."

"Together, we shall drive the aggressor from your territory," the leaflets promised.

Crew members of the C-46 included Cpl. Steven G. Greenackacs of Philadelphia, movie cameraman, and Cpl. Brian L. Johnson of East Liverpool, O.

Unusual Penalty Imposed By Court

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS)—Harold L. Hatter, 26, must pay an unusual penalty for firing a bullet last July which paralyzed a 22-year-old friend.

Under a sentence imposed in U. S. District Court, Hatter must contribute $15 a week for 10 years toward the medical expenses of the victim, Peter Brampton. Doctors say that "only a miracle" will give Brampton the use of his legs again.

Fourth Of July Week-End Weather

The Fourth of July week end is off to a good start in western Pennsylvania as far as the weather is concerned.

Fair skies and maximum temperatures in the middle seventies were forecast for today, followed by a comfortable night with lows ranging from 50 to 55.

Tomorrow is to be warmer, according to the weather bureau, with a chance of scattered showers in the late afternoon or at night.

Truman Signs Extension Of Draft Law

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS)—President Truman has signed a one-year extension of the draft act which also authorizes him to call up National Guard and reserve units at any time.

The measure, quickly and overwhelmingly approved by congress, is the first law enacted as a direct result of President Truman's decision to use force to oppose communist aggression in Korea.

The one-year extension was a compromise reached by senate-house conferees who also agreed to give the president additional authority to deal with threats of Soviet expansionism.

No Plans For Call

Defense Secretary Johnson, however, made it clear that the armed forces have no plans to summon reserves or National Guardsmen "in the foreseeable future."

He said the defense department will not use the selective service law "so long as its authorized strength can be maintained by voluntary enlistment."

The act sets the size of the armed forces at 2,005,882 men but provides that 161,000 additional voluntary enlistments may be accepted for one year from 18 to 19-year-old youths.

Under the act, inductions are continued for one year and draftees would serve for 21 months. The law also extends the registration of men 18 through 25 for one year.

Twenty-Three Killed In Big Plane Crash

TOKYO, July 1.—(INS)—Twenty-three U. S. military personnel members were killed last night when a big American air force C-54 transport plane crashed in a hill in southeast Korea.

An official announcement of the air tragedy was issued tonight by the Tokyo headquarters of the far east air force.

The crash occurred while the C-54 was flying at an altitude of 2,000 feet over an area 40 miles northwest of the South Korean naval port of Pusan.

The 23 dead included 18 passengers and five members of the plane's crew.

Wreckage of the plane was found today.

Across the narrow Japan sea from Korea, a second American plane—a twin Mustang fighter—crashed last night atop Mount Tami near Fukuoka in southern Japan. Japanese villagers discovered the wreckage today, with both of the plane's crewmen dead.

Grand Jury Will Probe City Labor Use In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—(INS)—A grand jury will investigate charges that Pittsburgh city officials used city labor on city time for private work.

The investigation was instigated a short while after the city council issued its report criticizing council president Thomas E. Killean "for indiscreet" and city controller Edward R. Frey for using "bad judgment."

As a result of lengthy hearings before the council dismissal was recommended for master mechanic Howard (Buck) Gross and a city painter, George Manko.

Gen. MacArthur May Require 100,000 Troops

Large Number To Be Required If Koreans Collapse

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Top military leaders disclosed today that General Douglas MacArthur may have to use 100,000 American troops to expel the communist invaders from South Korea if local resistance has collapsed.

Pentagon spokesmen said that if the defending army has folded up, three to four American divisions will probably be required to save the Korean situation.

This could commit approximately 100,000 American troops including support units, and would mean a heavy movement of ships, tanks, guns and men from the west coast to the far east.

Strong hope still remains in the department, however, that enough of the defenders will survive to make such a large scale operation unnecessary.

Chinese May Aid
All defense moves are being dictated by General MacArthur, who is in charge of the United Nations mandate to expel the invaders from North Korea.

It is possible that MacArthur may accept the offer of the Chinese Nationalist government to provide three divisions of American-trained Chinese soldiers for fighting in South Korea. If MacArthur does this, it would reduce the number of American troops required.

It is assumed that the bulk of American or Chinese supporting troops will move into Korea by air and ship through the southeastern port of Pusan (Pusan). The best airport as well as the best port left to the defenders is located at this point.

Sweden Gives Approval To U.N. Sanctions

STOCKHOLM, July 1.—(INS)—Sweden, which maintained neutrality in both World Wars, announced today that it supports the U. N. security resolution to apply sanctions against the North Korean Communists.

The announcement was made by Foreign Minister Oesten Unden who stated that the Swedish government shares the view expressed by the security council action in condemning the Communist invasion.

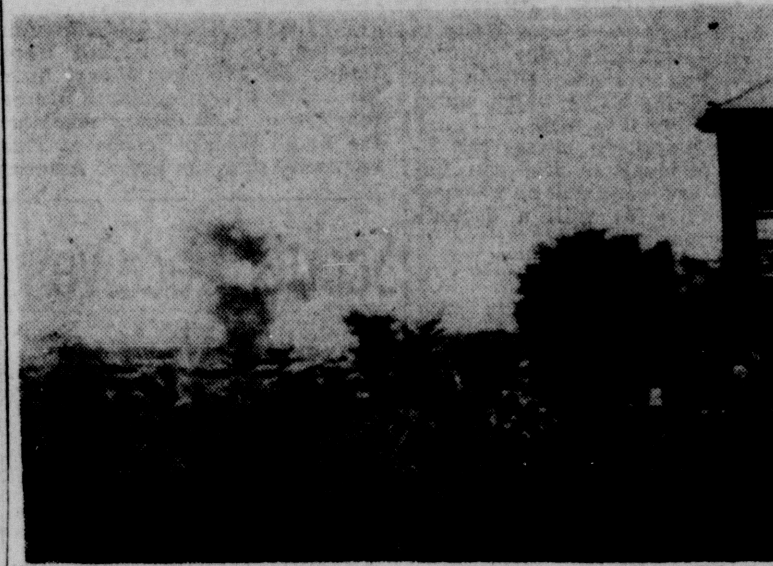

He also said the stand of the Swedish government is supported by the Swedish people who love democracy.

Unden said the Swedish parliament will meet to consider a reply to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie who asked each member nation what help they could supply in suppressing the invasion.

He also denied published reports that Sweden would not reply because it has no trade with North Korea and that it could not help the police force militarily.

South Korean Troops Holding Suwon Air Base

American Forces Rapidly Taking Defensive Posts

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. N. S.)

TOKYO, July 2 (Sunday).—South Korean troops held strategic Suwon today against Communist invasion forces that thrust to within 10 miles of that air base while an airborne American infantry battalion moved up to battle positions to engage the invaders.

The North Korean troops surged down from the Han river, across which they managed to throw three bridges, as the U. S. infantry battalion, flown from Japan to Korea rolled north to meet the Red onslaught.

Flown from Japan
The battalion, flown from Japan to Korea as the vanguard of a full division coming by sea, was assigned to establish a defense line in North or Taejon where a new U. S. Army Field Headquarters was set up yesterday (Saturday) after a 90-mile overnight withdrawal south from Suwon.

The withdrawal was made when Communist vanguard units knifed into the invaders were not strong enough in that area to occupy the air base.

Surviving units of South Korea's severely battered army thereupon regained a hold on Suwon to retake the Red advance until American troops can stabilize a new front.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in a communique issued shortly after midnight Saturday, announced that the main Communist combat forces now were concentrated 10 miles north of Suwon which lies 22 miles south of Seoul.

Situation Not Clear
Gen. MacArthur's intelligence service at 10:30 p. m. (5:30 a. m. PDT) said the exact current situation in the Suwon sector was not clear. Efforts to contact Suwon by (Continued on Page Two)

Four Are Lost In Plane Crash At Tampa, Fla.

TAMPA, Fla., July 1.—(INS)—Rescue workers searched the waters of Tampa Bay today for four airmen missing in the crash of a B-50 bomber at MacDill Air Force base near Tampa.

Eight other crewmembers parachuted from the flaming plane late last night.

Four of the known survivors waded ashore from the Bay where they landed.

Others were reported picked up by search boats.

The B-50, based at Chatham Air Force Base, Savannah, Ga., caught fire shortly after it took off from MacDill field. It turned back to make a landing but exploded as the wheels touched the runway.

The five known to have survived parachuted to safety.

Soviets Cut Off Electricity From Western Berlin

BERLIN, July 1.—(INS)—The Soviets cut off the supply of electricity to the western zone of Berlin just past the stroke of midnight this morning in an attempt to force payment for these services in western German marks.

The action had little effect on the western zone, however, where officials merely pulled a switch in a power plant newly-built with Marshall aid funds and began to supply the necessary current themselves.

The plant makes west Berlin self sufficient in regards to electric power although the capacity of the plant will have to be stepped up. Ironically enough, the plant was built by the allies during the blockade of Berlin in 1948-1949 when the Russians tried the same tactics.

Water supplies from the eastern zone to the western zone of the beleaguered city are to be cut off on Monday but this will have little effect since almost all of the water in western Berlin is supplied by its own water works.

How will you finish the glorious Fourth, how will you get back home, will you be okay, will the car be right, no matter how far you roam? Or will you wrap it around a tree, and bang up a brand new fender, will you both come back looking just as though you had finished a three-day fender? Drive carefully friend as you roam the roads, remember that many won't, and when you are feeling that urge to speed, just pause a moment—and don't. Keep your hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road, be safe while you are away, and you'll all get back in the shape you want, it's bright, eighty two today.

Boy Scouts Hear Truman

President Speaks
At Big Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., July 1.—(INS)—America's Boy Scouts renewed their pledge of "friendship toward all" today as President Truman urged them to supplant race hatred and war with the spirit of human fellowship.

Mr. Truman addressed 75,000 scouts and their guests last night at the second Boy Scout jamboree in Valley Forge park.

Cooperative Action

"We must show them over and over again that fellowship is possible between men of different nations, different colors and different creeds," Mr. Truman said.

The "masters" of communist-controlled youth, the president continued, "will not hesitate to sacrifice their lives if that will advance the cause of communist imperialism."

Mr. Truman was presented with the award of the silver buffalo.

Gov. James H. Duff and U. S. Sens. Myers (D) and Martin (R) of Pennsylvania joined the president on the platform.

Some 47,000 scouts—including 385 from 18 foreign nations—are attending the jamboree. Today's program includes tours of Philadelphia and Valley Forge and various displays and demonstrations.

"BE ALIVE ON THE FIFTH"

A veteran air line pilot who had broken all records for safe flying was asked how he did it. He replied that he had never taken off without a little fear in his heart.

Fear is a distasteful word to most Americans. It connotes cowardice. Our forefathers did not win a wilderness by being afraid. Our fighting men have not preserved our freedom by a craven reluctance to take chances.

Yet the early settlers took no foolish chances. They built stockades for protection, and they kept their powder dry. Military men speak of the calculated risk, which means that the chance of success has been weighed carefully against the danger of failure.

That is what the air line pilot meant when he confessed fear. Not timidity. His was intelligent fear—the knowledge that there are forces continuously at work to trap the unwary, that his experience and skill might be tested and found wanting.

Such intelligent fear was the pilot's secret of safety. It made him foresighted, alert, prudent. As a result, he never had an accident.

This weekend millions of Americans will set out to commemorate the birth of this nation's independence. It would be well to approach the occasion with intelligent fear—recognition of the extra hazards, determination to meet them with extra care.

The National Safety Council tells us that the Fourth of July celebration is one of the most dangerous single periods of the year. The council's exhortation to "Be Alive on the Fifth" is not just a slogan, because it is statistically possible—even probably—that hundreds of persons who begin this holiday will not be alive on the fifth.

So if you are driving this weekend and your patience is strained by a slow-moving jam of cars ahead, be a little afraid to pull out of line and race into the unknown.

Take counsel with fear if you consume a hearty picnic lunch and then are tempted to swim alone, or to demonstrate your prowess as a distance swimmer in college days long gone.

These are the things Fourth of July accidents are made of—the recklessness, the thoughtless chance taking, the show-off attitude, the impatience and discourtesy.

Fear—intelligent fear—of the consequences may give you pause—and save your life. Courage is not fool-hardiness, and a chance in a million is not the wise man's odds.

Get a little scared on the Fourth—and be alive on the fifth!

TROUBLE FILLING POSTS

President Truman is having trouble finding men to fill the two top government posts. The jobs are a seat on the Atomic Energy Commission and the assignment as special envoy to the Vatican.

Mr. Truman's difficulty in finding well-qualified men for these and other government offices is so serious that even the usual rumors as to his possible selections have been lacking.

Criticism of the president's failure to fill the AEC vacancy left by the resignation of David Lilienthal has been growing on Capitol Hill, however, and it may "build a fire under" the White House which will lead to an early appointment.

It is believed that secret negotiations are now under way with men the president considers qualified. However, as always, he faces the natural reluctance of men with big incomes and responsibilities in private life to accept the comparatively small pay, possible political sniping and the health-breaking schedules of government work on a policy level.

Reliable White House sources have discovered that the president will continue sending a special representative to the Vatican, despite protest from some groups. The task is to find a man to take the post left open by the retirement of Myron C. Taylor.

END OF OLD HEAP

Americans who take great pride in the achievements of the B-29s will shed a tear in behalf of "Old Heap," the oldest B-29 in service in Okinawa, which had to be shot down when the landing gear jammed and it could not make a normal landing.

The crew parachuted to safety, put the plane on automatic pilot, and headed it out to sea. There it was shot down by the jets, a feat which the Japs had not been able to accomplish in the war.

Of course, Old Heap was just an airplane, but what an airplane. Together with hundreds of sister ships it had won more honors than any other instrument of war. The men who flew them held them in high regard. Atomic bombs may have ended the war with Japan, but the B-29s already had the job about finished.

Old Heap sleeps in the Pacific, but her memory will long be cherished by the men who flew her.

Harvard University is the oldest corporation in the United States, having been founded in 1650. Of course, Russia went in for higher education long before that.

Now the Russians claim they invented the streetcar—back about 1839. If that's true, the original Moscow droshy-trolley must have been the Ding-Dong Daddy of them all.

Dr. William Kellogg, California geophysicist, says upward drafts 30 to 50 miles above the earth reach speeds of 600 miles or more an hour. Aitch Kay thinks maybe that's due to so many people always "complaining to high heaven."

May Be Long—Drawn Out

The war in Korea began to take on the pattern of the long-drawn-out and bitter battles of Europe and the question arose as to whether American naval aid and air support would be able to turn the tide against invading Chinese communists from the north.

At present, the situation in Korea can be considered more or less localized. There are American bombs and shells. But the actual fighting at close grips is being done by Koreans. Participation by United States ground forces will put an entirely different complexion on it.

The situation can best be compared to the post-war guerrilla fighting in Greece.

Ridged With Mountains
Both Korea and the latter country are ridged with mountain ranges. Crags and valleys make it easy for attacking forces to hide from airplanes and in any case the North Koreans probably are carrying their major moves under the cover of night.

From all appearances, the invaders are well-armed and well-trained. Those in the south obviously lack essential armaments and while Gen. Douglas MacArthur is flying equipment to the scene some time may elapse before its proper distribution and allocation.

In the meanwhile, the great danger is that the communists may be able to consolidate their positions and dig in so that when the long rainy season begins in a few days it may be impossible to dislodge them.

Variable Weather
Gen. MacArthur's airmen already are encountering variable weather. When he took off from Seoul for his front-line inspection trip, the sky was "soupy," and in some of the operations on Korea American pilots have to fly at dangerously low levels.

Another disturbing factor is the condition of Kimpo airport outside of Seoul which was recaptured by South Koreans after a blistering attack by B-29 bombers.

It is the only airport in South Korea with runways long enough to accommodate these big ships. It is feared to be more or less unserviceable as a result of bombing sorties.

While the news from Korea continues to be variable, with communist achievements canceling out American-aided Republican gains, developments on the diplomatic side are of a far more cheerful nature.

Propaganda Charges
Soviet propaganda charges against the United States and Moscow's allegation that the United Nations itself acted illegally in demanding assistance for South Korea do not appear to have had much effect upon world mentality.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD WHO WON'T PAY ATTENTION

Many parents write of the child who does not concentrate, who at school may be far away in mind while the teacher is explaining something to the class or while he is supposed to have his attention on a discussion at hand.

The child's habit of woolgathering, whether he be six or sixteen, can come from all sorts of causes. Most often, perhaps, it is a way of his escaping what he doesn't like to do; and he doesn't like to do what he doesn't like to do. Usually the daydreamer at school daydreams less as he succeeds more at learning there. His teachers and parents help this child by ascertaining what his specific difficulties are and at finding ways to help him.

Is Self-Centered
Often this daydreamer is pretty self-centered, not widely and deeply interested in other persons, nor, therefore, in what they say or do. Often he is a non-social, non-conforming child. Sometimes daydreaming at school begins when a pupil finds the immediate work at hand too easy for him. Supposing it unworthy of his attention, he sails off in his imagination. Then, before he knows it he has missed learning and responding to important matters, with the result that the things soon prove too hard for him to get.

However the daydreaming habit begins it can grow to be a nuisance to him, his teachers and others. What really exasperates his teacher most when he goes woolgathering in her class is the suggestion thereby that he doesn't consider what she is saying and doing is worthy of his attention and effort.

Something Important
Now let us consider daydreaming by us parents. When the child three, eleven or fifteen is talking about something very important to him and discovers we have not been listening, how must he feel? He may be talking as one in our midst, not addressing his remarks to anybody in particular, or he may be trying very hard to get the attention of one of us. Sometimes the youngster, two or three, failing to get our attention, will seize us by the hair or nose so as to turn our eyes to him. But an older child rarely feels it proper to rebuke us for inattention to what he says. Were he to say: "Now, pay attention," he knows we would consider him impertinent.

So he keeps talking on and on, hoping we might hear a bit of what he says, or he gradually gives up trying to get our attention, seeing that we don't seem to care to hear what he says.

If the child at school were as inattentive to his teacher as most parents are to the child at home, what an orgy of daydreaming there would be at school. Just to further good concentration habits in children at school, we parents should cultivate good concentration habits in ourselves when our children speak to us.

Except in outright communist circles, there is approval of President Truman's stand and the British are coming in for their share of praise because of their decision to throw the royal navy into action.

In effect, the war in Korea at this stage answers—if only partly—a question that for months has been on millions of lips.

It was simply this: What can the United Nations do to preserve the peace? Public speeches on great international issues such as war and peace aroused skepticism as long as Demosthenes. The once great League of Nations talked itself out of existence and in its dying stages there was more buffoonery than honest effort.

U. N. Has Hard Time
And while the United Nations started out in something like a blaze of glory and America was hailed as coming of age by playing host to the statesmen of the world, it has had a hard time in recent years.

Gradually it came to be regarded in many quarters as just another ornate forum without even the right and power to reprimand a Soviet delegate for walking out of a meeting like a giddy girl whose feelings have been hurt at a tea party.

But despite the absence of Russia and the objection of Yugoslavia, the security council acted quickly in this case. If nothing more, it committed itself to the side of peace and risked its existence on this gamble.

If the Korean affair culminates as all democratic peoples wish it to, United Nations prestige will be strengthened greatly.

Folks Of Fame

Peter Paul Rubens famous Flemish painter was born at Siegen, Westphalia, June 29, 1577. He moved to Antwerp when he was 10 years old and for a time was a page in the household of a countess.

In 1592 he began the study of art, and in 1598 he was officially recognized as a "master painter." From 1600 to 1608 he lived and worked in Venice and Rome.

"The Crowning With Thorns and the Crucifixion" belong to this period. He returned to Antwerp where he was much honored. He loved to paint huge canvases. "Adoration of the Magi," in the Madrid gallery, contains 28 life-sized figures, many in gorgeous attire, with armored warriors, horsemen, slaves, camels, etc. He painted many pictures of his first wife, Isabella, and his second, Helena. His paintings are found in all the principal galleries of Europe. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, contains his "Return of the Holy Family from Egypt." etc. Others may be found in other United States galleries. He died at Antwerp May 30, 1640.

Harold J. Binney is quite an old-timer in pictures as actor, author and producer. He was born in Kansas City, in 1889, educated at the University of Washington, and for three years was in vaudeville and stock productions. He started a screen career in 1910, with the old Biograph company, then with Keystone and Mack Sennett in "Hash House Frank," "Court House Crooks," "The Submarine Pirate," "The Snow Cure." In 1916 he became an independent producer, personally directing his own productions of Masterpiece features and comedies under the general name of Josh Binney Comedies. Some of his later productions were "Robbed in Black," "Listen, Look and Laugh" and "Scrambled Hearts." "Vigilante Law" was the last listed.

What gets the Latin so riled is the sharp contrast between United States precepts and United States practice. Senators who charge a plot to "rig" the coffee market are, themselves, working as hard as they can to keep the prices of American farm commodities at the highest possible level.

More important, they threaten to take action that will greatly curtail, or shut off, the sales of South American raw materials to the United States. If this action is taken, on top of the coffee report, the repercussions south of the border will indeed be serious.

Chile's Chief Income
The first applies to Chile's chief source of income from exports—copper. During the war when the demand for copper was overwhelming, the tariff of $40 a ton was lifted. Now, unless the Senate takes swift action by the end of the week (June 30), that tariff will be put on again. Such action is not expected.

With industry hitting new post-war highs, Chilean copper will probably come in despite the barrier. But it will be a discrimination. And even a slight drop in present levels of production would cut the flow of Chile's copper. This is to say nothing of what it will add to the bill of the North American consumer.

Supplies Are Dwindling
Virtually every phase of national self-interest points to a tariff-free U. S. policy on copper. Supplies in this country are dwindling. The best way to conserve what is left is to keep it underground until it is needed in another emergency, which at this moment looks ominous near. If Chile's economy is

WORM TURNS!

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Latin Nations Are Irked

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The spectacle of senators in a pet over whether intelligence agencies had advance information of the North Korean attack has a grim kind of humor. With what kind of intelligence on the eve of this newest crisis were the senators themselves absorbed?

They were investigating or about to investigate, among other things, coffee, homosexuals, crime in government and the gambling syndicate in particular. Given a little more time, they might have got around to stamp collecting, the rage for canasta and the traffic in marijuana.

In anything like normal times all this might have been considered a midsummer political pastime. But we have not been living in normal times. And, as Senator Gillette's little exploration of the coffee business now has shown, it can have most serious consequences when we need urgently to keep our friends and especially our near neighbors in Latin America.

Forced To Pay Millions
Senator Gillette says that the North American consumer has been forced to pay an added $740,000,000 because of the rise in coffee prices. A confidential report to the State Department shows a fair figure would be around $500,000,000. And the Latin coffee growers say that both estimates are unjust, since they are based on a comparison with prices so low as to make the comparison out of line with other commodity price changes.

What gets the Latin so riled is the sharp contrast between United States precepts and United States practice. Senators who charge a plot to "rig" the coffee market are, themselves, working as hard as they can to keep the prices of American farm commodities at the highest possible level.

More important, they threaten to take action that will greatly curtail, or shut off, the sales of South American raw materials to the United States. If this action is taken, on top of the coffee report, the repercussions south of the border will indeed be serious.

"Fourth Of July"

By PAUL GALLICO

New York,
American Subservient Republic,
World Soviet Union,
July 5th, 1950.

My Dear Son:

Whatever you do, be sure to burn this letter at once, for should it fall into the hands of the Soviet-American Inspector of Private Thoughts, you know what would happen to me. And yet it is worth the risk to tell you of the wonderful experience I had yesterday and to hope that it will come to you some day also.

After many years of faithful application and much effort, I was at last admitted to the Secret Group dedicated to the celebration of the Fourth of July.

Means Nothing To You

The date will mean nothing to you. Indeed, very few of us hardly recall what it commemorates or why we continue to hold these meetings, and yet there seems to be some event connected with this day the memory of which seems to persist in our minds and drives us to a performance of the old ceremonial connected with it.

I will not bore you with the details of the care and subterfuges needed to enable our Secret Group to foregather at the bottom of a deep and abandoned coal mine, a half mile from the surface of the earth, nor where we held this celebration, but suffice it to say that we were successful and held the meeting without interference on the part of the Soviet-American Secret Police, the Soviet Control of the Individual and the Red World Intelligence Eye.

The first part of the celebration consisted of trying to remember. We just sat around thinking and the most amazing things came up. One old man, for instance, said he remembered a picture which he had once either seen in his grandfather's house, or had heard about. It was of three tattered people—two drummers, one a young lad—the other an old man and a life player with head bandaged, the result of being wounded in some sort of fight. In the background was a banner. It was an inspiring picture, he remembered. The picture, he recalled, was called "The Spirit of 1776," but he could not tell us or recall what had happened in 1776, or even what the "Spirit" was. But after we had listened to him we all felt exalted somehow.

Most Amazing Group

Another told us of having heard of a most amazing group of men who had once lived in America, or "The Colonies" as it was then called, though he could not recall exactly when, since there have been no history books written for more than a hundred years. He could not remember much about them except that they were known as "Our Forefathers." They banded together to fight something called a "tyrant," which must have been something quite evil, for, as you know, the word is now forbidden in our language, and they actually risked everything they had and sacrificed their wealth, their property and many of them their lives. They were selfless men, my son, do you know for how many generations there have been no selfless men to lead us in America, and no willingness to sacrifice goods and wealth?

For a long while we talked and wondered what kind of men these "Our Forefathers" were that they were able to love their country more than profit or personal power and gain.

Come To Final Act

Then at last we came to the final act of the memorial. The leader of our group produced one of a dwindling supply of curious small, red, paper cylinders with a small piece of string or thread emerging from one end. Alas, there were no more than a dozen left in the box, and when they are gone, this touching ceremonial will come to an end for all time. No one even knows what they are called but only that they are relics that have been handed down from father to son, and carefully preserved.

The leader, handling this little red paper cylinder reverently, placed it in the center of our group, while we all arose to our feet and removed our hats. Thus we formed a ring about twenty feet in diameter.

Now our leader knelt and touched fire to the bit of string at one end of the cylinder and immediately it began to sputter and sizzle in a most active manner, giving our leader time to regain his feet and rejoin our circle.

In a few moments, the fire, travelling along the cord, reached the red cylinder which thereupon exploded with a kind of "pop" or "bang." Many of us standing there wept with emotion, though we did not know of our little group said that thought that the ceremonial might have something to do with the forbidden words—"Independence" and "Liberty," but he was not sure. After this we went away.

Perhaps some day you, too, will experience this.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You all know that old proverb about not being able to see the woods for the trees.

A letter just received from Ipswich, Queensland, Australia, brought it back to my mind.

It was written by Mrs. Rose Manson, who flatters me by telling me that she is a constant reader of my column and that she was particularly impressed by the one in which I said that I feel like falling on my knees and thanking God that I am privileged to live in America.

There is more—but this excerpt will suffice.

It seems a small matter in these days of great events, yet I don't remember when a letter has moved me as much as this one.

Six American kids who fought and died for their country, buried thousands of miles away, yet cared for by an Australian woman as tenderly as their own mothers could care for them!

We people here in the United States are not ungrateful nor unkind. But we do have a tendency to be ashamed of our emotions, and, due to our prosperity, we don't appreciate our blessings.

What we call poverty is affluence in other countries. What we consider necessities would be thought of as unattainable luxuries in many other lands.

The hospitality for which this Australian mother is so grateful to you mothers of America is probably something to which you have not given a second thought. It is another one of those many things we take for granted.

Perhaps we have too many trees to see the woods.

Excessive Speed Will Be Cause Of Traffic Deaths

By ED HAUCK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—Excessive speed will be the biggest contributor to the 385 traffic deaths predicted by the National Safety Council over the Fourth of July holiday, Highway Safety Director T. Elmer Transeau said today.

"Thousands of the expected 36,000,000 vehicles taking the road throughout the country will travel Pennsylvania's highways and there will be some fatalities in this state," said Transeau. "Speed, Public Enemy Number One, will be responsible for the most of them."

25 Died Last Year

Last year 25 persons died and 822 were injured in 1,398 motor accidents in Pennsylvania for the July Fourth week-end.

Most of the deaths this year will result from accidents on rural highways, Transeau pointed out.

"Figures indicate clearly we are winning the battle in cities and towns and losing it on the open highway," the traffic safety expert said.

The havoc caused by speed, Transeau said, "is increasing with sickening consistency every year."

He cited last year's statistics: "Council which showed 10,100 men, compiled by the National Safety Council, and children were killed by speed and 398,700 injured. It was the greatest factor in traffic casualties in history, representing the cause of 44.9 per cent of all traffic fatalities and 38.3 per cent of all motorists injured.

Both figures inched up from 1948 totals.

Motor collisions as of June 16, took 577 lives compared to 604 for the same period in 1949 in Pennsylvania.

Most on Open Road

"Although the breakdown isn't complete, figures so far indicate most of the deaths were on the open road where speed is greatest," Transeau said.

If driver "A" plans a 400 mile trip and travels an average of 45 miles per hour, he'll reach his destination in eight hours and 54 minutes, Transeau explained.

If driver "B" steps up his speed to 61 miles per hour for the same distance, he'll get home two hours and 44 minutes sooner, Transeau said.

But, cautioned Transeau, the first man's chances of being injured or hurt should be in 12 whereas the second man's is one in six.

"Americans have made a god out of something we call time," Transeau said. "Actually, it is of no importance unless we have lost it. If we gain it, we sit down and waste it. In order to save it, we need only spend a little of it in advance."

Good roads, good lights and efficient traffic control are all necessary, but their effect is limited, the safety director said.

The thing most drivers most desperately need is the will to drive sanely and carefully.

RENOVO, Pa., July 1.—(INS)—The third natural gas well tapped in the Renovo area by the Cabot drilling company was, estimated today to have a daily capacity of eight and one-quarter million cubic feet.

The last well tapped in Liedy township has a flow of more than 10 million feet a day.

Reds Crack Down On Meteorologists Too

PARIS, July 1.—(INS)—Next time the weather man puts out a fair-weather prediction and you get a snowstorm—blame it on Russia and the cold war.

Professor Charles Brooks, Harvard meteorologist, says the Soviet Union has not sent any meteorological bulletins to the United States since 1946.

The director of the famous Blue Hill Observatory in Milton, Mass., explains that there has been a tightening up of information all along the line by Russian researchers that is hampering American research.

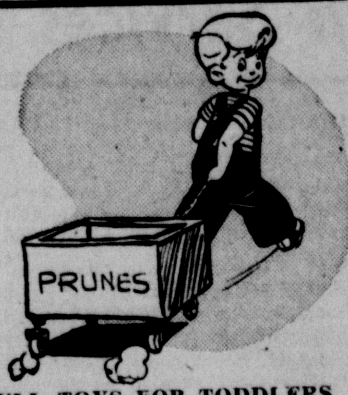

But American bulletins and all U. S. technical publications have been available to Russia.

Prof. Brooks has been in Paris for the meeting of the International Meteorological Organization's committee which is trying to work out a code of exchange of weather information.

Prof. Brooks is scheduled to sail for home today.

PULL TOYS FOR TODDLERS

Almost as soon as children begin to walk and for years after, they never seem to tire of pulling toys behind them. I've never heard a theory as to why this is true but it is.

Dad, Mother, big brother or sister can easily make one of these pull toys from things found about the house.

The simplest toy can be constructed merely by tying a looped string to the handle of a tin or aluminum pan. A more intricate one can be made from a sturdy wooden box that has contained prunes, apples or other groceries. Fasten chest or bed castors to the bottom four corners and a wooden handle or piece of rope to the front so the wagon can easily be pulled along.

A cardboard or wooden box can take the place of the pan. If it is cardboard, it won't make so much noise neither will it last as long. A coffee can or cylindrical ice cream container (or a similar shaped cereal box) can be used for a rolling pull toy. A piece of stiff wire is run through the center and string is tied to each end. By enclosing marbles, pebbles or buttons before sealing the end with adhesive tape, will produce delightful noises when it is pulled!

FARM INCOME RISES

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—Farm cash income in Pennsylvania rose slightly in April, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

The month's total was $64,987,000 compared with $63,450,000 for the same month in 1949.

Total farm cash income in the commonwealth was running about $17,000,000 behind the same period last year, the department disclosed.

Ambrose Indicted On Fraud Charges In Stamp Dealings

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS)—A federal grand jury on Friday indicted Harold Ambrose on 24 counts of fraud stemming from stamp transactions allegedly conducted while he was a special assistant to Postmaster General Donalson.

The grand jury charged that about 25 persons involved in the transaction lost a combined total of between $200,000 and $300,000.

Among 16 persons specifically described in the indictment as having been defrauded were Joe Adonis, of Palisades, N. J., and Robert R. Rodenberg, of Baltimore.

The indictment carried 10 counts of mail fraud, seven counts of fraud under color of his office, three counts of obtaining money through false pretenses and four counts charging larceny after trust.

If convicted, Ambrose faces a combined maximum penalty of 169 years in prison and a fine of at least $20,000.

CORRECT NAME OF WIDOW WHO REMARRIES

Question: When a widow remarries, does she retain her first husband's surname and use it as her middle initial, thus: Joan Robinson becomes Mrs. Robert Brown. At Mr. Robinson's death, she marries Jones. Is she then Joan Robinson Jones or Joan Brown Jones?

Answer: Technically, she is Joan Robinson Brown Jones, but it is optional which middle initial she retains.

Question: When a man and a woman meet on the street, which should speak first?

Answer: It is the woman's privilege to speak first. But if they are friends, rather than mere acquaintances, this rule is disregarded and whoever is first to recognize the other speaks first.

Question: How does one eat the following: (1) Doughnuts—with a fork or the fingers? (2) Shrimps? (3) Frogs legs?

Answer: (1) Usually with the fingers. (2) With an oyster fork. (3) A dinner fork.

Question: At a dinner party who rises first to leave the table after dinner is over?

Answer: No one leaves the table until the hostess rises. She, of course, waits until everyone has finished. The women go first and the men follow.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Dolls Displayed At West Side Grounds

Showers chased the West Side playground's doll show indoors on Thursday afternoon, but in spite of the rain over 60 dolls were displayed.

The most unusual doll was presented by Veronica Calabrese, who was awarded first prize. Bonnie Heasley won second prize for the prettiest doll, and third prize went to Virginia Torchio, who owned the doll that had been best cared for.

Honorable mention was received by Patsy Younger for the oldest doll, Gloria Torchio for the smallest doll, and Susie Price for the largest doll. The judge was Mrs. Lynn Kennedy.

Earlier in the afternoon the playground midgets defeated the Harbor street midgets in a 6 to 5 softball game. Pitcher for West Side was Jean Hetrick, who also made the winning home run.

A new activity at the grounds will be painting plaster of paris plaques and figurines. The children have ordered their materials and will start to work on them next week.

First prize was awarded to Rasmella Piccarello, for her doll dressed in ice-skating costume; second prize was captured by Mary Anna Palumbo, for her doll which was attired in evening dress; third prize award fell to Sara Jean Galliano for her pretty flower girl doll. Margaret Jean Conti received honorable mention, for bringing the largest doll, "Charlie McCarthy". The oldest doll in the grounds was brought by Paddy Jolley, her doll being over 80 years old. Most unusual doll was a Mexican doll, the owner being Eric Perrotta.

It was a difficult task for the judges to make the decisions for the prizes. Judges were Alberta Hollingsworth, Viola Mangino, Mary Burzachech.

Another piece of equipment has been installed on the grounds, which is called a "monkey bar".

German Columnist
Praises U.S. Action

FRANKFURT, July 1.—(INS)—Western Germany's only syndicated political columnist today praised the action taken by President Truman on Korea.

The writer, Ernest Friedlander, in his first column which was published throughout the West German Republic, hailed the Truman position and said:

"It was a wise and courageous stand, undoubtedly taken in the interest of peace, not war." Friedlander predicted that the situation will be localized since "the United States will never launch aggressive war, while the Soviets are not likely to do so at this time."

Urges F.B.I. Be Alerted On Reds

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(INS)—A House spy probe recommended today that the FBI be alerted to seize dangerous American Communists at a moment's notice because of the Korean situation.

Rep. Velde (R) Ill., a former FBI agent and a member of the Un-American Activities Committee, declared that the Justice Department should be placed on a "near-war" basis to prevent any espionage or sabotage in event of an emergency.

He urged that the FBI be prepared to round-up Communists in this country within 24 hours similar to the seizure of German and Japanese agents after Pearl Harbor.

Velde declared that if the international situation becomes worse, known Communist agents in this country should be taken in custody even without a formal declaration of war.

4-H CLUB GIRLS' DISTRICT CAMP CONCLUDED

Thirty-six 4-H club girls and three 4-H local leaders of Lawrence county have returned from spending four days at the annual district 4-H club camp held at Camp Kondashawa in Mercer county. Mercer and Venango counties also sent 4-H campers, making a total of 117 4-H club girls and 10 local leaders for this period. Erie, Butler, and Crawford county had spent four days the early part of last week in this camp.

The camp activities were planned to carry out the theme of "Indian Living." Camp fire programs were a series of Indian songs, games, and challenges, with competition between the various tribes. Ministers of Mercer county were guest-speakers for the vesper programs held in the early evening. For handicraft, the campers had a choice of making wall plaques or braided belts. Other camp activities included group singing, swimming, recreation and nature study.

Miss Lois Smith, assistant 4-H club leader, Pennsylvania State college, camped with the 4-H members for two days. Miss Patricia Kelley, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county was camp director, and other extension representatives were present from the participating counties.

The cub was treated, and will be a resident of Washington zoo following presentation ceremonies by the U. S. Sheriff Makes Office Changes

Reorganizes Staff, Effective July 1

Meeting with the salary board Friday morning, Sheriff Frank L. Coen presented a reorganization of his staff with some adjustments in salaries. The adjustments added nothing to the gross total of the office pay roll but did make a difference in several salaries.

Upon his return the salary board, composed of the three county commissioners, deputy county controller George Lawrence and the sheriff approved the following set-up.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Alan Thomas retains the title, Michael Fazzone becomes second deputy and Deputy Thomas F. O'Brien becomes jail warden on the daylight shift. Harold Latshaw, presently daylight warden takes the second shift (four to twelve) and Francis McCracken takes the midnight to eight shift as warden. Deputy Blanche Davy retains her status as secretary and Matron Mrs. Eleanor Coen retains that post.

SEVEN IN WEEK

Registrations for the past week totaled seven. The registration books are open for voters to qualify for the November 7 election but they will close on September 16, not to be opened until after the election.

SUPERSTRUCTURE STARTS

Brick masons have started laying brick on the superstructure of the new detention home. The steel beams are partially in for the first floor and more steel will be erected next week. When completed the building will be as nearly fireproof as it is possible to make it.

TOWNSHIP AIDED

Aid to a number of townships has been given by the county commissioners recently. In most of the cases, the townships were given $2,000 for road work. Some of the money has not been paid as yet. Some were given sums ranging from $500 up. Those getting help include Neshannock, Washington, Wilmington, Pulaski, Shenango, North Beaver, Wilmington and Little Beaver.

THREE SENTENCED

Three men who pleaded guilty to driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor were sentenced Friday by Judge John G. Lamoree. They were Joseph W. Blizard, John Givens and Joseph P. Vann Kirk. Each was fined $100 and costs and given thirty days in the county jail. Out in three days if the fine and costs are paid.

OHIOANS DUMP RUBBISH

Residents of Mahoning township have developed a "slow burn" in the past few weeks and with cause. Some folks living in Ohio have been bringing rubbish and garbage over the Pennsylvania line and dumping in the township. The first one to be caught doing it is in for a hard time, the Mahoning township people say. Confidentially we'd like to be there when they get one.

This is a project which merits the support of every local citizen. The band, which has been organized for several years, has never turned down an invitation to play and is a big asset to the city. Officials May Lift Rent Controls Soon

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Realtors association today said local officials may remove rent controls despite congressional extension of the federal law to limit rents until June 1951.

PRA President Charles E. Horner said that under the law's provisions municipal officials are permitted to lift controls at any time. Formerly approval of the governor was required.

More than 5,000,000 rental units have been decontrolled throughout the nation since April 1, 1949, Horner said.

Brownies Are At Scout Camp

Sixty-five Brownie Scouts rolled into Girl Scout Camp between 2 and 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Council members, Mrs. Frank P. Bower and Miss Mildred Lusk, arrived ahead of time to help with registration.

Miss Gyla Brooks, camp nurse, weighed each camper as she checked in. Parents, who so desired, conferred with Nurse about their children.

Staff was ready for the Brownies. Welcome drawings of Brownies with a colorful copy of the Brownie promise decorated the bulletin board.

The following campers were divided into four units:

Seven-year group: Ann Milbower, Sandra Cwynar, Frances Bartley, Janice Alphonso.

Eight-year group: Carol Burnside, Rose Marie Boyd, Virginia Filban, Nancy Gattall, Barbara Lee Jones, Mary Elizabeth McCullen, Sallie Lou Miller, Bonnie Wyman, Virginia Weatherly.

Ten-year group: Janet Baynham, Jean Marie Goff, Mary Claire Faust, Sally Lou Hill, Sandra Lee Hill, Barbara Long, Phyllis Rowan, Althea Richardson, Joyce Shaffer, Jean Thompson, Barbara Wallace, Katherine Weber.

Eleven-year group: Betty Allen, Carol Beals, Donna Jean Boyd, Patty Conway, Dorothy Dalton, Janice Gillett, Norma Greenfield, Julie Hayden, Kathleen Harrah, Gertrude Johnson, Clara Johnson, Muriel Kennedy, Ida Mae Lattava, Shirley Ann Nativio, Carol Ridgely, Norma Jean Burrow.

Parents saw their daughters happily settled. By 3 o'clock camp program was in full swing. After a get acquainted period, a big dinner, formal colors and an evening campfire, at which time the Brownies presented original skits about what they expected to get out of camp. Having prepared the theme during the "get acquainted period" they were quite ready to go to bed as some counselors circled the cabin area singing good night songs and taps. This last is a camp tradition dear to all campers.

ANTS

POUR PREPARATION IN TO CENTER OF THE ANT MOUND, AND REPEAT IF NECESSARY.

In the Summer every section of the land has its share of pests, that are a problem to the gardener.

One of them is the ant that makes a sorry sight of the lawn and if neglected can do a lot of damage.

Ants in the lawn can become troublesome if they get into the homes. The food of ants vary greatly, they live on fats, sweets, vegetables, and grains.

As ants live in Colonies underground and have a queen it takes thousands of workers to keep the queen alive, and attend to the young.

Ants can be checked by using poison bait, or Nicotine two table spoons of it to one gallon of scalding hot water to which has been added some Naptha soap. Pour this preparation in the center of the ant mound. Another method is to take half cup of lye, and put it in two gallons hot water and pour in mound. If lye is used do not stand over the bucket, as the fumes rise, and might be breathed in.

DON'T BRING YOUR CAR HOME LIKE A "BUSTED" FIRE CRACKER

Sure the Fourth of July is intended for celebration. The celebration of the birth of freedom for Americans. We used to celebrate it with huge firecrackers and pay for the celebration with burned fingers and injured bodies.

Firecrackers are against the law, but somehow folks still get them. Speeding is against the law also, but folks still do it. That's why a lot of motorists will be bringing their cars home the night of the Fourth looking like a "busted" firecracker.

PMTA truckers are keeping their trucks off the highways over the Fourth as much as possible. Safety is a part of PMTA.

Why not be original this year. Drive safely, come home safely. Don't bring your car home looking like a "busted" firecracker.

Senators Defeat Butler Tigers 4-1; Maintain Four-Game Lead

Churchill Racks Up Seventh Win; Tom Famiglietti Hits Home Run

New Castle's hustling young Senators did it the hard way last night, trimming Butler 4 to 1, in a game that saw a little bit of everything. Oil City edged Johnston 7-6, to make it a four games in the van for the locals. Butler dropped six and a half games behind, and Erie's loss at Youngstown 5-4, puts the Tars six games back.

Herb Churchill with only two days rest, having pitched Wednesday at Niagara Falls, came back last night and hurled a steady six-hitter to rack up his seventh win against three defeats. The victim was Paul Foytack, who was wilder than a March hare, walking 13 batters, but was stingy with hits, allowing the Senators but three.

Zedalis Pitches Tonight, Becka Goes Sunday

Manager Chas. Cronin announced that Stan Zedalis will go to the firing line for the Senators tonight and will be opposed by young Nels Reeves a newcomer to the Butler hurling staff. Game time tonight is 8 o'clock.

George Becka, back in shape after being hit by a line drive at Erie will attempt to win his 10th of the year tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the series finale, with Butler.

Sunday will also be "Kiddies Day", it was announced, the youngsters under 12 being admitted for 10 cents.

Tommy Famiglietti Hits Sixth Homer

Tommy Famiglietti shook off his home allergy at the plate, with a mighty left-field fence wallop, for a home run, his sixth of the year, and first at home, in the fourth inning last night. He almost duplicated his feat in the sixth backing Adeock the left-fielder up against the fence to haul in his long drive.

Three lightning-like double plays, two "around the horn" from Al Mouton to Danny Dondero to Johnny Vizzini, and one from Dondero to George Eikenberg to Vizzini helped Mr. Churchill out of several rough spots.

Errors Fail To Hurt

Despite five chargeable errors by the Senators last night, none of which resulted in Butler runs, the youngsters backed up Churchill with excellent work in the field, the three sterling double plays helping to erase the Tigers when they became dangerous.

Nowhere in the league is there a better infield combination than Mouton, Eikenberg, Dondero and Vizzini, for steady day in and day out performance, they will error occasionally but always make up for it with scintillating plays.

Three Runs On Gifts

Three of the New Castle runs last night were strictly gifts by young Mr. Foytack (7-5). He walked two men home in the big eighth, and Eddie Komiserak, the catcher, was charged with a passed ball, allowing one run to score. Foytack was charged with three wild pitches, he fanned seven batters. Churchill walked six and fanned five.

Butler Tallied Their Lone Run

Butler tallied their lone run on two straight hits in the fifth inning, with two out, Frazier singled and scored when Tommy Falc blasted a double to right field. Adeock ended the inning by skying to Eikenberg.

Johnny Vizzini, The Senators

first sacker, had an unusual night at the plate, being walked all four times at the plate.

Need Support Of Fans

The Senators are anxious to make it two in a row over the Tigers tonight, and also harbor the thought of a clean sweep by winning tonight and Sunday. In the event of good weather tonight

there should be a large crowd at Flaherty Memorial Field, as the Senators strive to give New Castle its first Mid-Atlantic League pennant. The boys are doing a grand job and you can show your appreciation by coming out to the ball park. The crowd was a little over 700 last night.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

BILL JOLLEY, age 61, former promoter of the "Jolly" bowl, which passed out of existence some years ago, was laid to rest in Valley View Burial Park this afternoon. He suffered a stroke and died Thursday evening in the Jameson Memorial hospital. He leaves many friends who mourn his passing because, in the vernacular of sports, he was a "man's man".

Always an enthusiast of all sports, Jolley in 1928, was persuaded by Tom McMahon, former local heavyweight, that the city needed a promoter of boxing. Being convinced by McMahon, he started operating as a promoter in the Army, which then was located in Neshannock avenue. Eddie Weygant, former featherweight, was his matchmaker.

After a winter's campaign he became imbued with the idea of constructing an open air arena for major attractions at State and Sampson streets. He procured the services of Here & There (Ed Fritz) as matchmaker of the new venture, and when the bowl opened, it was the first open air bowl between Chicago and Philadelphia. Other open air arenas were in baseball parks.

The name Jolley was changed to "Jolly", for exploitation reasons. The bowl, which operated almost every Monday night, quickly became the mecca for fans. None other than topnotch fighters; or those with a national reputation, were engaged in main bouts, and upon many occasions, the bowl which seated 4,100, was sold out and many were unable to gain admittance to some attractions.

Due to Jolley's popularity throughout the tri-state district fans from Ohio, West Virginia and all points in Western Pennsylvania came here several times a month to witness the high class punch parties which were staged. During his several years reign, only one bout resulted in a foul, and only one boxer was penalized.

He engaged police to act as a bowl police force, and firemen to perform as a bowl fire squad. No act of disorder ever occurred at the bowl, and no person who ever lost an article there, failed to have it returned. In fact, Jolly bowl was operated on a very high plane and it was not uncommon to see hundreds of females present.

This was due to Jolley, who always maintained that the customer comes first. He insisted on matches of the highest calibre, and never interfered in the operation of the bowl of which Phil Greer was secretary-treasurer. Jimmy Dunn, former manager of Johnny Kilbane, was an important and keen adviser.

Jolly operated the bowl for several years. While he was not reared in the fight ranks, he caught on quickly and many times the advice he gave, was appreciated highly by his associates. When the depression came on, and State street was closed for paving, these factors made serious inroads, and Jolley not owning the ground, the site was taken over by a service station.

Jolley was known in sports as a "man's man". His word was good. In his several years of operating, managers of fighters never asked that he sign his name to a contract. They accepted his word—which never was broken. He is known to have performed many charitable acts—the information concerning these, not coming from him, but from associates.

Jolley is gone. However, his memory will linger in the minds of fans, especially those who like boxing. They yet recall that of all the promoters here, his shows drew the biggest gate receipts, had the most notable performers and was operated in a manner that brought credit to not only him, but the boxing game in general.

Dodgers Lose First Place And Pitcher Don Newcombe

By JOHN BARRINGTON (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 1.—Mike Goliat, husky young second baseman of the Phillies, has fired a shot that may be heard around the world series, come next fall.

A rifle-shot single off Goliat's bat in the eighth inning last night set the stage for Philadelphia's scrappy youngsters to regain first place in the National League and tumble the defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers to third with an 8 to 5 victory.

What may prove more important in the long run, the hit temporarily incapacitated Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's big right-hander. The ball struck Newcombe's wrist, causing a painful bruise and forcing him to leave the game.

Cards Advance

The St. Louis Cardinals leaptfrogged the Dodgers also, taking second place only three percentage points behind the Phillies. The Cardinals walloped Pittsburgh, 9 to 4.

Sibby Sisti, pinchhitting in the ninth with the bases full and the score deadlocked, delivered a dramatic homerun to give the Boston Braves an 8 to 4 win over the New York Giants.

Cincinnati topped Chicago, 8 to 5.

Indians Trounce Tigers

In the American League, Al Rosen hit his 21st homer and Luke Easter blasted two as Cleveland trounced the league leading Detroit Tigers 11 to 3.

Boston and New York split a day-night doubleheader, New York winning the first, 9 to 6, and Boston the second, 10 to 2.

Gus Zernial's homerun in the 13th inning gave the Chicago White Sox a spectacular 3 to 1 win over St. Louis Browns.

Philadelphia pasted Washington's Cuban twins, Sandalio Consegua and Conrad Marrero, for twin losses, 7 and 4 to 2.

All-Star Voting Will End Tonight

CHICAGO, July 1.—(INS)—The national poll to determine starting line-ups for the 17th annual all-star baseball game ends at midnight tonight.

The game will be played July 11 in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox.</

Major Leaguers Add New Talent

NEW YORK, July 1.—(INS)—The Major Leaguers marked the beginning of July with a series of deals, principally with Minor League affiliates.

Some of the transactions included: The Chicago White Sox purchased veteran outfielder Mike McCormick outright from Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. The Brooklyn Dodgers recalled outfielder Cal Abrams from St.

Paul of the American Association and optioned outfielder George Shuba to the Apostles.

The Boston Braves signed Murray Wall, righthanded pitcher from Texas University.

The St. Louis Browns sold pitcher Tommy Fine to Baltimore of the International League.

The Chicago Cubs signed Harry Chitt, Jr., Detroit high school catcher for a "substantial bonus."

The English daisy, Bellis perennis, may be grown from seed sown now. It will bloom early next spring. Out-of-door beds may be used where the exposure to severe weather is not too great, but it is better to use a cold-frame in the north.

Urge Change In Constitution

State Bar Proposes Modernization Move

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—Members of the State Bar Association meeting at Bedford Springs propose modernization of the state constitution. . . . Ex-Governors George H. Earles and William Spruill were the last to attempt streamlining the constitution and both failed. . . . One leading item is to revise the judicial system with a provision short of impeachment to oust judges found unfit to perform their duty. . . . The Pennsylvania constitution has been amended 77 times since 1901 and a number of other amendments during the period were rejected by referendum. . . .

Fielding Wright, Jr., special investigator of the U. S. Sen. Guy M. Gillette's sub-committee on elections, is cutting reports on Republican primary campaign expenses and sending reports directly to Washington. . . . The job requires struggling through mountains of papers coming into the State Election Bureau. . . . Wright refuses to say whether the probe was prompted by anti-Governor Duff Republicans since Duff smashing winner of the fight for the Senate, would be hurt most by any proven misuse of campaign funds. . . . Personally, Duff spent $566 for expenses during the campaign, hardly enough to make political capital which is the view the chief executive takes on the proceedings. . . .

Music minded Pennsylvanians have submitted 176 entries in the Pennsylvania week song contest which closed this week. . . . Mannie Sacks and his judging committee are considering the songs accepted. . . . Prize money totaling $1,500 has been donated by Howard S. Fitch, president of the Pennsylvania Electric Association. . . . Ceremonies honoring the winners will be held during Pennsylvania Week October 16 to 22, in the home communities of the successful composers. . . . First prize is $600, second $200, third $100 and 12 $50 awards for honorable mention winners. . . . Allegheny county led the list of entries with 35, Dauphin county was second with 28 and Philadelphia was next with 11. . . . Cumberland, and Tioga produced nine each. . . . Forty-four of the state's 67 counties are represented. . . .

Pennsylvania highway construction leads all other states in number of projects, dollar volume and total projects without federal aid. . . . This was reported by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for the period January 1 to April 30. . . . "Dollarwise Pennsylvania led the nation with all of its lettings (761 projects) on 1,155 miles of highway totaling $76,495,000," according to the report. . . . New Jersey was second with $44,095,000 for 17 projects involving 102 miles of new road. . . .
